The two Glyphs are of Brandarand they are construction lifts, if your figure steps on one of them it is immediately transported to the space directly above. If there is a figure in that space you are not transported until that figure moves off the space. As soon as the figure is off the space the figure on the glyph is moved up. If a double spaced figure lands on the lift once it is teleported the back end may be rotated for the figure to fit on the top. If the double spaced figure cannot fit it cannot be moved up the lift. You cannot move down using the lift.

At the beginning of the game the door is closed.
